

Real Life at Emory

Even as you figure out college life at Emory, you can begin to figure out what Real Life success will look like for you. These internships, classes, fellowships, service programs and more will help you get engaged in the world outside of Emory, and prepare for your Real Life after Emory.

Volunteer Emory is the student-led volunteer center at Emory University. Weekly service trips, coordinated by our student staff, take you places to help people, animals, even the planet! Or join us for AIDS Walk, Fall Break service trip, or Emory Cares Day of Service. Stop by DUC 239E, email volunteer@emory.edu, visit www.volunteer.emory.edu, or come to our Weekly Service Trip Orientation on September 13 at 6 pm in Harland Cinema.

The Emory Scholars Program provides scholarships to students whose strong academic records are matched by school and community service. Emory Scholars explore the Real World through specialized research, focused conversations with faculty, summer study abroad, summer internships, and special arts opportunities. If you are an Emory Scholar, discover how learning, research and service all make a Real World of difference both globally and locally. Contact: vhartfi@emory.edu

Look to the Office of University-Community Partnerships for learning that makes a difference. Gain real life experience with public policy, human services, community organizing and advocacy, communications and more through a wide variety of courses, fellowships, research projects, and internships. Visit <http://oucp.emory.edu> for a schedule of events and program descriptions.

Ethics and Servant Leadership Program (EASL)

Be Challenged. Learn to Lead. Make a Difference.

EASL offers two innovative programs.

1) EASL Forum, a weekly program during the academic year in which 15 undergrad and grad students focus on service, ethical decision making and leadership;

2) The Servant Leadership Summer

Internship, an 8-week paid internship working on specific projects for local nonprofits or socially responsible businesses and guided closely by a mentor.

The Office of Multicultural Programs and Services

- Providing programs and services to enhance cross-cultural interaction and community building.
- Creating an appreciation for and understanding of racial and cultural diversity.
- Fostering development of a more pluralistic and welcoming environment for all members of the Emory community.

The Emory College Center for Science Education

Gain research experience in labs at Emory and beyond. Discover enriching opportunities to engage local K-12 students in science. Be a scientist, a mentor, a tutor, and an inspiration. The Emory College Center for Science Education offers fellowships, volunteer opportunities, advice, and resources on the doing and teaching of science. Get engaged at www.cse.emory.edu/engage.cfm.
